Mattt Thompson

NSHipster is a journal of the overlooked bits in Objective-C, Swift, and Cocoa. Updated weekly.

Mike Ash

Mike Ash's blog: Mac development blog, home of the Friday Q&A series. This blog is really good for learning low level stuff.

Marcus Zarra

The site is called Cocoa Is My Girlfriend because it's about programming and a passion for programming on iOS and OSX. Writing code is hard work but it's fun. It's science but it's also art. It's fun as well as infuriating. It's often beautiful and sometimes ugly. It's temperamental yet rewarding.

Matt Gemmell

I've released a large amount of iOS and Mac source code, which has been used in hundreds (if not thousands) of apps on iOS and OS X.

I've written for (and been featured in) many magazines, newspapers and other periodicals, including The Guardian, Macworld, MacUser, The Loop Magazine, Offscreen, and more.

Peter Steinberger

I make iOS apps that are lickable. Love to rant on startups.
Speaker.

Developer of PSPDFKit, a drop-in-ready framework that helps in almost every aspect of PDF-rendering on iOS.

Current home-base: Vienna, Austria.
